Attempts to Blow Up Railway
Property and to Wreck Trains

CHICAGO & ALTON FORCED BY STRIKE INTO RECEIVERSHIP

Liabilities of Carrier are Given as Fourteen Millions

CHICAGO, Ill.—Passing of the Chicago & Alton railroad into the hands of receivers, disclosures of new plots to wreck trains and other actual attempts to cause derailments and blow up railroad property were high lights Thursday in the nation's railroad situation. Dynamite, sulfuric acid and firebrands played an important part in developments the last twenty-four hours.

An explosion of dynamite on the main line of the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis railroad at Arlington Heights, a suburb of Cincinnati, derailed the tender of a work train. A passenger train had passed a few minutes before the explosion.

An attempt was made to blow up the emergency of the Illinois Central railroad at Paducah, Ky. The explosion blew a hole in the ground near the building.

Martial Law in South

Police precautions at Algiers, a suburb of New Orleans, in effect amounted to martial law in efforts to check disorders which authorities characterized as virtual anarchy. Automobile loads of police patrolled districts where news have occurred in the homes of railroad workers following announcement by the fire marshal's office that incendiarism was responsible for the burning of several homes. Police reported almost constant firing in railroad districts and between 25 and 40 assaults since the shopmen's strike began. One man was killed by a negro cook who was being beaten.

Railway Guard Killed

Reedy Booth, a guard on the Southern Railway, died in a hospital at Augusta, Ga., from wounds received when he and another guard were attacked. His companion, E. M. Foster, was killed. The men were shot and cut with knives.

State troops on strike duty at Salisbury and Spencer, N. C., were ordered back to their home stations Thursday. Authorities declared that danger of further disorders in the shops of the Southern Railway had passed.

Four men, two of whom were said to be deputy United States marshals, were attacked by a crowd and severely beaten at Sedalia, Mo.

Bunk House Attacked

Guards on the Northern Pacific at Missoula, Mont., were reinforced by a squad of deputy United States marshals following an attack on a bunkhouse where twenty-five workmen were asleep. Although a volley of shots was fired into the bunkhouse, none of the sleeping men were injured.

Attempts to blow up the tracks of the Chicago & Alton and a bridge on the same road near Allen, Ill., were discovered when two cans of dynamite were found by a section crew.

Although preparations were made to reopen the shops of the Missouri Pacific and the Missouri, Kansas & Texas railroads at Sedalia, Mo., the Missouri Pacific roundhouse and shops at St. Louis, Mo., remained closed, the management announcing that operations had been discontinued indefinitely.

C. & A. in Receiver's Hands

With the coal mine and railway strikes as a contributing cause, the Chicago & Alton railroad was placed in the hands of receivers in Federal court here yesterday by Judge George A. Carpenter.

William G. Blair, for many years president of the road, and W. W. Wheelock, an attorney with offices in the Marquette building, were appointed receivers.

The carrier's total indebtedness is estimated at $14,000,000. No accurate statement of assets can be made now, according to Silas H. Strawn, named by Judge Carpenter as attorney for the receivers.

Petition by Oil Concern

While the petition for a receivership was formally filed by the Texas company, an oil concern with headquarters at Houston, Tex., the defunct railway joined in the plea, acknowledging all allegations of the plaintiff.

"WHISKY MONEY" BUILDS CITY PARKS

ON THE RIGHT IS MAYOR SCOTT HEARING A BOOTLEG CASE. ABOVE IS A PLAYGROUND, AND BELOW A POLLING PLACE, BOTH BUILT WITH "WHISKY MONEY."

MILFORD, O.—It's an ill wind that blows no good, in the opinion of Mayor M. B. Scott, of this thriving village.

Mayor Scott has beaten copper stills into wash boilers, gasoline containers and similar articles of "legitimate" use. With the money obtained from sale of these, together with the fines he has collected from their owners, he has built playgrounds and recreation centers for the youngsters, and other municipal improvements.

Since January Mayor Scott has assessed $125,000 in liquor fines, of which the share going to Milford was $20,000. Hundreds of illicit stills have been confiscated and their owners sent to prison.

Milford's monuments to prohibition are being paid for by fines into Milford's treasury from the rum peddlers, moonshiners and still manufacturers of Cincinnati, which is 20 miles away. The mayor of Milford is their terror. His jurisdiction as prohibition enforcer ranges all over Hamilton county, but Cincinnati is his happy hunting ground. His three officers hunt Cincinnati dry law violators before the mayor at the rate of five a day.

"We are the prohibition capital of the state," he says. "And here you see the first good that whisky has done," he adds, pointing to the rapidly growing number of civic improvements.

"Whisky money built most of our polling booths, our public playgrounds and parks. I'm going to keep on until Milford hasn't any more stills, and bootleg poison is stamped out in our vicinity."

Mayor Scott's idea to convert liquor fines into public playground facilities and municipal improvements is perhaps the first of its kind in the United States.

Visions of a new city hall as the climax of Mayor Scott's efforts are in the minds of Milford citizens.

Oh, I beg your pardon I thought you were my husband. No it really doesn't matter in the least. And when I came to think it over I decided that I'd better let marriage alone."

NEILLSVILLE DOCTOR IS SHOT BY WIFE IN FIGHT OVER CHILDREN

Husband Had Obtained Court Order Turning Children
Over to Him

NEILLSVILLE, Wis.—Dr. A. Matheson, 72, was shot twice Wednesday by his wife, 32, after a quarrel over their three children. The couple separated two weeks ago.

The shooting occurred at a camp near Black River Falls, where Mrs. Matheson and the children had been staying.

Mrs. Matheson had left Neillsville with the children after her husband had obtained a court order making him their guardian, and ordering Mrs. Matheson to give up the children to her husband.

Sheriff Kutchera was to accompany Dr. Matheson to Black River Falls to serve the papers, but Dr. Matheson preceded the sheriff. The wounds are said to be slight.

Announcing

A Wonderful New Principle of Washing

This is perhaps the greatest announcement we have ever made. It introduces the most wonderful washing machine we have ever seen. Women who have done their own washing should come at once and see it.

Easier Cleaning

This new machine has a cast aluminum tub. It is absolutely new in principle. Washes twice as fast. Washes much cleaner. Washes much more carefully. Not a cabinet. Not a dolly. Not an oscillator. Not a vacuum. Not like anything ever built before. Absolutely new and absolutely wonderful.

That's the nearest it can be described. The wonderful action of the water in this machine. The new Gyrotator—a MAYTAG invention—does it. Gyrotating currents and foamy suds clean the clothes as no other principle can. It's wonderful. Thousands of women throughout the land are viewing it with amazement. It solves the question of cleaning the heaviest or lightest pieces by water action alone. See it for yourself. Lift up the lid and look in. Don't wait. This is something every woman should see and know. Come in today. A machine will be on display from morning to night. See this new marvel which is being sold by the thousands all over the country.

ABHOR EVIL

A BISHOP that which is evil, leave to that which is good.
Romans 12: 9.

A Soldier

MARTIN PAULSEN, of Stevens Point, is a candidate for Secretary of State. He is the only soldier seeking an important office on the republican ticket. In itself, this would not be sufficient reason for his election, for the office to which he aspires is one that requires considerable ability.

But if Martin Paulsen possesses ability equal to that of his opponent, his having served during the war is an additional reason why his state should give him recognition. Indeed, it will hardly be gainsaid that Wisconsin has required deserving and capable service men in a political way to a degree commensurate with the sacrifices which they made.

The campaign has disclosed to the public that Martin Paulsen possesses ability of a high order. He is keen, courageous, and straight from the shoulder in all his dealings. Not all of us will agree with everything he believes in, but neither will we agree with all his opponent stands for. And in Paulsen we have a man of whom it can be said that we should always "know where he's at."

Therefore it may seem to many people that unless Mr. Paulsen's opponent possesses ability substantially greater than this soldier is displaying, Mr. Paulsen should have the preference. Some who wear fine feathers may object that he wore no shoulder straps, but probably a majority will not consider a plain private beneath the consideration of the State of Wisconsin.

When is Emergency?

THERE were 60,000 surplus box cars in good order when the railroad shop strike broke out. By the end of July that surplus was reduced by 40,000 cars. What the situation now may be no figures are at hand to show, but it may not unfairly be taken for granted that the situation has not greatly improved. A similar situation exists as to railroad power. The interstate commerce commission inspectors, although they have been unable to make a complete survey of all railroads, reported that of 4,685 locomotives examined during July in 1,717 different points on the railroad lines of the country, 2,456—more than half—had "defects of various character, more or less serious." One hundred sixty-nine of these were definitely unsafe to operate, and 992—altogether making more than a quarter of the total examined—were "in need of prompt attention."

These conditions prevail at a time when the transportation business of the nation is heading up to its peak load. Car loadings at this time of year usually increase on an average of 100,000 a week at this season, up to the crest in October and November. It is the rush period in all sorts of freight transportation, as well as being the time of largest crop movement. It is obvious that with the number of available box cars steadily decreasing, and with half of the available locomotives fit to pull trains not in efficient condition to say the least, the country is headed straight for acute distress of some sort.

Were there any hope on the horizon of a settlement of the railroad shop strike this would be less painful to contemplate. But all efforts for peace have broken down. The last word from both sides is a "fight to the finish." There is nothing that can now through normal channels forestall the emergency in transportation. Probably if a settlement were to be effected tomorrow there would be acute car shortage and derangement of business in every line before Christmas.

It would seem that statements of congressional leaders that Congress will "wait for the emergency to arrive" before giving the president power to take over the railroads and move traffic in the interests of the whole country are not the outgivings of seeing men. It is as if men in a burning building were to say "we will not call the fire department until we are cut off and the flames are actually in this room." Certainly it is not statesmanship to wait, in full knowledge of an approaching evil, until it is upon the country in full force, before embarking upon on the action that is admitted to be practically a certain recourse when the evil arises.

In some quarters there seems to be a childish faith that something will turn up, somehow, that will solve the problem. Although generally this something is not mentioned, everyone knows that a successful breaking of the strike by the railroads is the rescue which is hoped for. And it is, perhaps, true that the railroads can beat the strike and break up the unions in time. But they have been nearly ten weeks about it now, with no very conspicuous result. They are running the shops more or less, but the increasing number of bad order cars, the decreasing number of locomotives and the continued cancellations of trains shows that the strike is still making itself felt. Can the country wait another month or two for the men to be starved out, just at the time when the busy season in every line is getting under way?

We do not think so. We do not think the country cares to make the experiment, even that part of the community which is most out of patience with strikes. And at the very least we should like to see something definite and practical being done by the government to meet the situation. As it is now there is absolutely nothing being attempted to restore transportation. There is no effort for a settlement under way, no legislation being pushed to prepare a modus operandi for the impending emergency. It doesn't look much like constructive statesmanship.

Murder

A PHILADELPHIA mail order house advertises "genuine German Orgies automatics," described as "nice small size, easily carried." Any crook who wants one of these revolvers can get it secretly by mail, delivered for $7. Murders, burglary and hold-ups would be cut down by a law prohibiting the retailing of revolvers by parcel post or express. Why not stop private sale altogether, sell only to police and army, thus disarming the underworld?

Shorter

AMERICANS are writing shorter letters, reports the Postoffice Department. It reasons to this conclusion because the average now is 45 letters to a pound, against 40 in 1907. This doesn't necessarily prove that letters are briefer, for stationery is lighter than it was 15 years ago. The average American probably writes as much as ever. Letters may be shorter, but more are written. It used to take a week's rallying of the will power to get started with, "I take my pen in hand."

A Successful Campaign

By H. IRVING KING

That very attractive widow, Mrs. Pemberton Jones, had brought her two daughters to Midway Beach for strictly matrimonial purposes. Of the daughters Geraldine—familiarly called Jerry—was twenty, and Margaret—Margie for short—was twenty-three. While not having beauty, they were more than ordinarily good-looking girls, well-brought up, with enough education for their daily needs. Geraldine was tall and dark; Margaret looked to be the younger. That was because she was of the submissive, clinging variety, while Geraldine was decidedly of the non-submissive, self-reliant sort. In the mid-west town whence they came they had not wanted suitors, but among them had been no one whom they especially cared about and no one whom Mrs. Pemberton Jones cared about at all as a son-in-law. But the good mother set out on a war of conquest from which she determined to bring back captives if it took her last cent and a sacrifice of health and comfort. She hated hotel life; but Midway Beach appeared a good strategic position and, like a skilled general she occupied it. She did not, of course, explicitly state to her daughters the object of the expedition, but they suspected it.

The season at Midway Beach was a crowded and brilliant one. At night the great hotel blazed with incandescent bulbs, the band blared from the loggia-like bandstand in front of the hotel and the fiddles sang in the ballroom to time the dancers' feet. On the broad piazza young couples flirted and old couples gossiped, while the sullen and disapproving ocean pounded on the shore and announced to the shivering sands its intention of sweeping the whole frivolous place to destruction with the first winter storm.

Mrs. Pemberton Jones had calculated upon some opposition to her plans from Geraldine, but upon none from Margaret. But as the season progressed the usually pliant Margie developed an unexpected obstinacy quite equal to her sister, and as the season began to draw toward its close the girls were, apparently, no nearer catching rich husbands than they were at its beginning. It must not be thought that the sisters made no conquests—they did. In fact Geraldine had the honor of rejecting a mature millionaire and Margaret rejected a gilded youth of the best Wall street standing after each of which events Mrs. Pemberton Jones kept her bed for a whole day. The good woman was in despair and, indeed, in tremendous and tears at the manner in which her daughters neglected their opportunities. "If ma is so set on marriage," said Jerry to Margie after one of these family squabbles, "why doesn't she get married herself? She's only forty-five and looks ten years younger."

But had Geraldine and Margaret come through the frivolous and fiery furnace heart whole and fancy free? Not so.

In a little fishing shack four miles away along the shore of the bay, two young men were roughing it for the summer. They had a catboat, and they had an aged negro to cook for them. They sailed and fished and wore old clothes, smoked and loafed. It was a life good for the health, and the young men showed it.

"Most gentlemanly and attractive young fellows," said Jerry to Margie after their first meeting with the horrid fishermen. "They haven't money, though, apparently—which is too bad or we might be able to soothe mother's feelings."

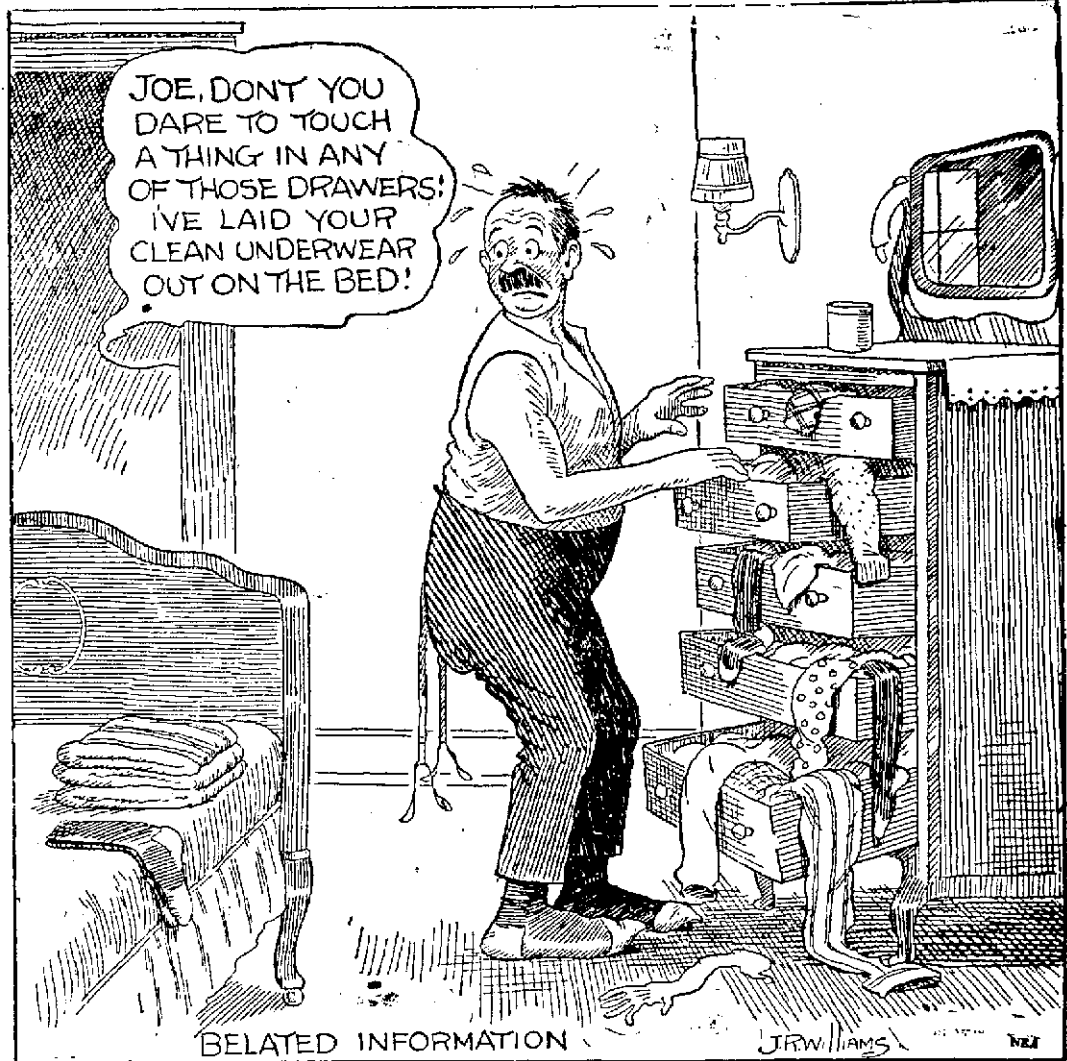

"How shocking you are!" replied Margaret. "Of course, we shall never see them again."

"Of course not," said Jerry. This first meeting referred to had come about in this way. The girls took early morning railroads, attended only by a groom. Geraldine's horse attempted to bolt near the fishing shack, and one of the young men sprang into the road and caught it, while the other soothed the sister's fears. When the groom came up, he found the young ladies, who had dismounted to recover from their fright, seated on the porch of the shack, in animated conversation with the stranger youths. After that, somehow, the morning rides of the sisters generally took the direction of the bay shore road, and generally—but always quite by accident, of course—they met the two young men, so that it was inevitable that a most friendly acquaintance should grow up between them.

"One can't snub a man who has saved one's life," said Geraldine.

"Why, Jerry, you declared you were not in the least danger when that young man grabbed the horse," expostulated Margaret.

OUT OUR WAY

BELATED INFORMATION

J. Williams

"Well, I've changed my mind," replied Jerry. The groom who accompanied the girls on their rides was a discreet person and a letter in non-intervention. The young men never came to the hotel, and the young ladies saw no reason why they should mention their humble and chance acquaintances.

"I did ask the clerk once," said Jerry to her sister, "who those two young men were who occupied the old fishing shack across the bay, and he said he didn't know—some poor devils, he supposed, who could not afford the hotel."

Several times the girls agreed to speak of their newly acquired friends to their mother, but somehow kept putting it off.

"There's bound to be a row," said Jerry.

"I hate a row," said Margie. Before they realized it Dan Cupid's shaft had lit. When the season was waning the young men proposed.

"Whatever in the world will mother say?" asked Jerry as the sisters rode slowly back to the hotel one morning. As they came upon the great piazza they saw in a far corner their mother, sitting in earnest conversation with a man whose figure seemed familiar to them. As they approached the couple they saw that the newcomer was Dr. Thompson, the leading physician of their mid-west city.

"What in the world!" exclaimed Jerry. "He's fifty, and a bachelor. I'll bet."

"Whatever it was she was willing to bet she would have won, for that night Mrs. Pemberton Jones explained to her daughters that the doctor had come on to escort them home, and that she had "entertained" for him the warmest regard ever since he had cured Geraldine of the "croup."

"Oh, you sly little mother!" cried Jerry. "And are we to have a stepfather?"

"Perhaps," replied the widow, blushing like a girl.

Geraldine fairly screamed with laughter and then—"And you are going to have two nice sons-in-law."

"Geraldine Pemberton Jones! what have you and Margie been up to?" cried the astonished matron. Jerry told her the whole story ending with:

"And we love each other and that's all about it."

"But, but—who are they?" gasped Mrs. Pemberton Jones.

"Oh, that's all right," replied Jerry. "My Harry is the son of Cal."

HALF OF MEMBERS NOT TO RETURN TO THE LEGISLATURE

Only Sixty-nine Members of 1921 Legislature are Candidates for 67 Offices

FOUR WOMEN CANDIDATES FOR LEGISLATIVE SEATS

Four Candidates from La Crosse
District

By PAUL F. HUNTER
MADISON, Wis.—Indications are that not more than one-half of the members of the 1921 legislature will be returned for the 1923 session, which promises to be one of the most important sessions in recent years.

Only 69 members of the 1921 assembly are candidates before the primary next week for 67 offices, as bare two-thirds of the lower house, while only nine of the 17 senators whose terms expire this year are candidates for re-election. Only thirteen candidates for the 169 places in the assembly will be nominated next Tuesday without opposition, while all candidates for the senate will have opposition.

Women Candidates

Four women are candidates for nomination to the assembly, three as republicans and one as a democrat, while only one woman is a candidate for the senate. Mrs. Hilda M. Anderson, Ashland county, Mrs. Mary Scott Johnson, Douglas county, second district, and Mrs. Lila Matteson, Waupesa county, are the three republican women, while Mrs. Mary R. Randolph, Milwaukee, 18th district, is the democratic candidate for the assembly. Mrs. T. W. Youmans, Winnebago county, is the only woman candidate for the senate, running in the thirty-third district against four men.

A study of the appended list of legislative candidates, the only complete list which has been compiled, is unusually interesting. In two assembly districts, because of the reapportionment made by the 1921 legislature, two members of the 1921 assembly are candidates against each other.
Johnson county was reduced from two to one district and Eugene H.
Kellum who represented the first district in 1921 lost a La Follette supporter, is being opposed by Henry W. Stokes, who represented the second district as an independent progressive. Winnebago county was cut from three to two districts, the city of Oshkosh comprising the first district and the balance of the county the second. Neil Larson, who represented the second district in 1921 and G. H. Jones, who represented the third district, both anti-administration republicans, are conducting a friendly contest for the nomination for the new second district.

In the eyes of a great many people the personnel of the legislature is as important as the election of any state official. There are 268 candidates for the assembly of which 105 are classed as anti-administration republicans, 88 as La Follette progressives,
41 as democrats and 31 socialists.

In more than one district it has been alleged that the La-Follette-Blaine organization has succeeded in getting a second candidate to run as a regular republican to split the vote and insure the nomination of a La

Follette man. On the other hand there are two or more La Follette candidates in several districts. As in the case of Secretary of State Elmer Hall who is a candidate for the republican nomination for congress in the ninth district, endorsed by the senior senator while the labor organizations have endorsed George Schneider, Appleton, as the La Follette candidate, so are two candidates claiming the La-Follette support in several legislative districts.
In the thirteenth senatorial district Senator Bilgrien has been endorsed by Governor Blaine while local labor and farmer organizations have endorsed Ira Burtis as the La Follette candidate.

In Vernon County

In Vernon county there are five candidates for the republican nomination for assembly, two as regular republicans and three as La Follette progressives. In Racine county Senator George L. Buck, whose nomination papers were filed, entered into an agreement with former Senator Charles H. Everett to submit their candidates to a committee to decide which should withdraw on the ground that should both remain in the field Max W. Heck, the La Follette candidate, would be sure of the nomination.

Both the regular republicans and the La Follette progressives claim to be confident of controlling the legislature. Governor Blaine, in his campaign, has been urging the election of a legislature friendly to him, claiming he was hampered in his reform program in 1921 by a hostile legislature.

Twelve former assemblymen are candidates for nomination to the senate, six of them members of the 1921 assembly, while three former senators are attempting to stage a
"come-back."

The complete list of legislative candidates is given below with their party of factional affiliation designated: R, regular republican; L,

S, socialist; * member of the 1921

MATHESON MENTIONED AS SPEAKER OF NEXT WISCONSIN ASSEMBLY

Dry Leader Considered Strong- est Man in Opposition to Blaine-La Follette Forces

MADISON, Wis.—With control of the legislature of first importance to the next state administration, there is already talk here of the probable successor to Hilley S. Young of Du-rue as speaker of the assembly, a commanding position in the lower house.

Assemblyman A. E. Matheson, Janesville, who is unopposed for re-nomination on the Republican ticket is being mentioned as the probable selection of the drys and the forces opposed to the La Follette progressives. The leader of the prohibition forces in the last session, and considered, who is practically assured of re-election, is counted on as the most prominent candidate for speaker at the present time.

Hilley Young, who presided over the assembly for two sessions is a candidate for Lieutenant Governor.

WALTZING FOR A WIFE

The Zebra spider, so-called because of his stripes, wins his wife with a waltz. If he is a good waltzer she rewards him but if his dancing fails to come up to her approval he must look elsewhere if he escapes with his life.

He does not bother about array-ing himself in special courting clothes, as do so many of his fellows. Neither does he use the special perfume some insects adopt during love-making. Nor does he spend long hours practising the music of love songs, as the love-sick cricket does.

Instead he seeks the home of his lady love and starts dancing before her, first a jazz and then a waltz.
These he performs alternately, and all the while he is performing Miss Spider watches him critically with all her eight eyes. She judges of the depth of his love by the perfection of his dancing.

She is frequently coy too, and hard to please. A male zebra has been known to repeat his jazz and waltz alternately as many as one hundred and eleven times for the delight of his sweetheart. However, few court-ships are as long as this, and the lady usually makes up her mind after a few minutes of dancing.

If Miss Spider is really convinced by his dancing that Mr. Zebra really loves her, she finally joins him in a mad whirling waltz and consents to become his wife. If, on the other hand, the dancer is awkward and un-graceful, she turns her back on him in disdain.

Not only that, but it not infrequently happens that Miss Spider, enraged at the poor show he makes,
rushes out and kills the unfortunate performer.

First Days of Turpentine

Crude turpentine was collected by the early settlers of the eastern coast of Virginia and the Carolinas by practically the same methods of boxing the trees as is employed today. They also extracted tar and pitch from resinous pine wood by means of soil covered kilns or pits. The products were extensively used in the construction of wooden sailing vessels and boats and for that reason they were called "naval stores."

R. W. DAVIS

Republican Candidate for

Member of Assembly

Second District,
La Crosse County.

Endorsed by the VOTERS and TAXPAYERS, who recognize the fact that his ability and experience will insure the people of the district and their interests able, valuable and efficient representation in the Legislature.

His ability and qualifications have been clearly demonstrated in the management and administration of the business of the county. As a member of the County Board and as chairman his executive capacity and practical knowledge have always been directed to the careful and economical conduct of the public business. He was one of the pioneers in the good roads movement in the state and county, and as a member and one of the executive officers of the County Road and Bridge committee, has been a leader and foremost in promoting, constructing and maintaining the large and splendid system of roads in La Crosse county. La Crosse county possesses a national reputation for the mileage of roads built to serve as many people as possible within the entire county, and for the low cost and high quality of many of the roads, and in this work and in the administration of the highway department his business and executive ability have been clearly demonstrated.

He has always been keenly interested in all activities and movements for the benefit of agriculture, and in all public organizations in the interests and for the welfare of the people and as a public-spirited citizen of his locality and the county has always lent his assistance and labors freely to the public good. His services to the people of La Crosse county entitle him to their consideration and support, and his election to the Legislature will insure the district a representative who has the ability and experience to properly look after and promote their interests and one who will be a leader in the Assembly as he has been for many years in the county.

The people of the Second Assembly district cannot afford to neglect this opportunity to secure the services of such a well qualified and able representative.

Are you proud of your teeth?

—the right dentifrice will quickly make them
gleam white and bright

Listerine Tooth Paste, made by the Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, makers of Listerine, contains just the right cleansing agent. It is hard enough to remove daily formation of tartar, yet not hard enough to scratch or injure the enamel.
You take no chances with it.

Avoid dentifrices that attack the enamel

Guard the precious enamel of your teeth. Don't scratch it with a paste containing harsh abrasives.
This enamel can never be replaced.

Also avoid soaps and other alkalies

Dental authorities now agree that the ideal den-tifrice should contain no soaps or other alkaline ingredients. These work against Nature; they lessen the natural saliva flow and hasten tooth decay.

Mild fruit acids on the other hand, such as Listerine Tooth Paste contains, aid Nature in preserving the teeth.

Clean your teeth thoroughly and pleasantly

Notice how delightfully fresh and clean your mouth feels after you use Listerine Tooth Paste.
It's natural that it should feel so. Listerine Tooth Paste is made to work that way—to clean your teeth thoroughly and pleasantly, and help you keep your teeth and gums in their natural healthy condition.

Listerine Tooth Paste works naturally

Notice how your mouth waters when you use it.
That is because the fruit acid elements in Listerine
Tooth Paste—grape, orange, apple and grapefruit —stimulate the flow of saliva. Saliva is good for the teeth and gums. That's one of the purposes for which saliva is provided. Again notice the clean feeling. Your teeth will feel clean after you use Listerine Tooth Paste thoroughly, because they are clean.

It is antiseptic—like Listerine

Listerine Tooth Paste is doing the same thing that Listerine did. Listerine is a safe antiseptic for all to use. It brings into your home an effective weapon against infections. Just so, Listerine Tooth Paste, used conscientiously, makes it easy to give your teeth and gums the right kind of care. Do not neglect, however, to visit your dentist at least several times a year.

Note how quickly your teeth will improve

Get from your drug dealer a tube of Listerine
Tooth Paste. The price is 25 cents.

Give it a thorough trial—three brushings a day is the best method. Then note how white and bright your teeth will gleam—how the condition of your gums will improve.

And know all the while that you are using a dentifrice that is perfectly safe—that cannot injure your teeth.

Listerine Tooth Paste is safe and efficient

—because it contains the correct polishing agent; removes tartar safely; can't injure the enamel;
—because it contains mild fruit acids (instead of harmful soaps and alkalies) to stimulate the saliva that Nature intended to keep your teeth healthy;
—because it contains the healing antiseptic essential oils contained in Listerine.

ENROLLMENT DAYS

Schedule Issued by Principal
G. M. Wiley Covering
Enrollment

Dust off your books and sharpen your pencils, your high school students, for your summer's freedom is almost at an end.

The following schedule and announcement concerning registration at the high school was issued Thursday morning by Principal G. M. Wiley:

All students entering high school for the first time from schools other than those in La Crosse report, with a statement of their credits, to the principal's office in the high school building Saturday, September 2, at 9 a. m.

All freshmen report to Room 207 in high school building Saturday, September 2, at 1:30 p. m. This includes freshmen entering for the first time and all who have attended high school and have less than three credits.

All other students will report for enrollment Tuesday, September 3, in accordance with the following schedule:

Advanced seniors, Room 207, S. a. m.
Seniors, Room 215, 9 a. m.
Advanced juniors, Room 207, 10 a. m.
Juniors, Room 215, 11 a. m.
Advanced sophomores, Room 207, 1:30 p. m.
Sophomores, Room 215, 2:30 p. m.
Advanced freshmen, Room 207, 3:30 p. m.

The rate of interest charged the veteran by the bank could not exceed by more than two per cent a year the rate charged at the date of the loan for the discount of commercial paper by the federal reserve bank for the federal reserve district in which the bank was located.

If a veteran died before maturity of the loan the government would pay to the bank the principal and interest and to the beneficiary named by or to the estate of the veteran the face value of the certificate less the amount paid to the bank.

After January 1, 1926, veterans holding certificates could make direct application through postmasters for government loans.

If such loan were made at any time not more than three years after the date of the certificate, it could not exceed fifty per cent of the sum of the adjusted service credit of the veteran plus interest at 4 1/2 per cent a year from the date of the certificate to the date of the loan.

If the loan were made at any time more than three years after and not more than six years after date of the certificate the sum could not exceed 55 per cent of the adjusted service credit plus interest at 4 1/2 per cent from the date of the certificate to the date of the loan.

If the loan were made at any time more than six years after date of the certificate the sum could not exceed seventy per cent of the adjusted service credit increased by 25 per cent plus interest at 4 1/2 per cent from the date of the certificate to the date of the loan.

Repay in Installments
The veterans would repay the loan upon an amortization plan by means of a fixed number of annual installments sufficient to cover interest on the unpaid principal at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent and such amount of the principal as would extinguish the debt within an agreed period not exceeding the life of the certificate.

If a veteran failed to make any payment when due the secretary of the treasury at any time prior to the maturity of the certificate would cancel the note and restore the certificate to the veteran on receipt of all installments in arrears together with interest at 4 1/2 per cent compounded annually upon each such installment from the time when due.

In event of the death of the veteran before the maturity of the loan the loan and note would be canceled and the government would pay to the beneficiary named by or to the estate of the veteran the face value of the certificate less the principal of and interest on the government loan.

The certificate of a veteran would be cancelled only in case he failed to redeem it before its maturity or if he failed to make any payments when due and such default continued to his death.

Drop House's Land Plan
The land settlement aid option of the house bill has been stricken out and the Smith-McNary reclamation bill substituted. Under that measure veterans would be given preference in employment on reclamation projects, however, to pay for such homesteads without further government aid, on the same footing as other homesteaders. Settlement would be open to all veterans of the world war, the Spanish-American war and the Philippine insurrection, and irrespective of whether they had received any compensation from the government under the bonus bill or other legislation.

"Kay Byng" And Her Crew
Of Intrepid Explorers Here
On Cruise Of Old Mississippi

A strange boat with a strange name put-putted up the river and docked at the Saenger boathouse. "Kay Byng? Now what kind of a name is that?" asked Mr. Saenger.

With a rope in his hand a tall fellow ducked out from the white prairie schooner canopy which covers most of the boat. "Oh, nothing. Just a name to mystify you. By the way, may we park our boat here? Can you put up the Kay Byng?"

Two Newspaper Men
Then it developed that the two men were journalists, Kent Lighty and Wyman Smith, making a tour of the Mississippi river from La Crosse to the Gulf of Mexico. Their launch was nosed into the Wisconsin river at Sank City, they zig-zagged and whizzed across that stream, pulled and pushed over countless sand bars and finally ran into the Mississippi below Prairie du Chien. Now they have come up the big river to La Crosse and Thursday they started southward for New Orleans.

"Voyagers," or re-discoverers of the Mississippi, they call themselves, and as they proceed they are writing the story of their trip, the incidents which occur, interesting features of the country, people, places and the economic, historical and social conditions of the "Valley of Democracy," the breadbasket of the world. Crushed Stone at Railroad
Crossing Caused Derailment
Investigation Shows

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—"There is no evidence that sabotage was in any way responsible for the ditching of the Madison-Milwaukee train at Waukesha," said H. H. Stroud, special agent of the department of justice, Thursday, after completing an investigation of the wreck which caused the death of Harry True, Baraboo, the engineer, and the injury of Frank Tyr, Madison, the fireman.

"It seems that the most reasonable explanation is that an accumulation of crushed stone between the planking of the crossing and the inside of the rails caused the heavy trucks of the locomotive to jump the track. Presumably this crushed stone was laid at the crossing by the highway department to make the crossing an easier one for automobiles," he said.

The inquest into the death of Engineer True to determine the cause of the wreck will be held at Waukesha next week.

Wharton Denies Charge
CHICAGO, Ill.—Emphatic denial of charges that he is serving not only as a member of the United States labor board but also as president of the striking shipbuilders' association, was made Thursday by A. O. Wharton, one of the three labor members of the board.

Mr. Wharton made the retort when informed of a dispatch saying the charges would be contained in an article in the September 2 issue of The Independent, a New York magazine, quoting another member of the federal arbitration board as saying "The shipmen's strike was engineered from inside the labor board."

Mr. Wharton was president of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor from 1912 to 1920, when he was appointed to the labor board. He said he was re-elected president at the union's convention last April but that his re-election was merely a formal tribute in appreciation of past services.

"It was specifically understood," he said, "that I was not to serve as head of the organization, and that I was not to do anything that conflicts with my duties as a member of the labor board."

Pennsylvania Bridge Blown Up
WILMINGTON, Del.—The Pennsylvania railroad bridge at Fourteenth street, this city, was damaged by an explosion, probably of a dynamite bomb, early Thursday. The charge was so heavy that glass was broken in houses in the neighborhood but it did not demolish the bridge.

No trains were due at the time, but a passenger train due twenty minutes later was held up for an hour until the displaced rails could be replaced.

Guards at the railroad shops nearby, where they have been on duty since the shipmen's strike started hurried to the scene but found no persons at the bridge.

Milwaukee Manufacturer Says Question of Interpretation Will be Decided by Tax Body

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Otto H. Falk, president of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company, Milwaukee, Thursday took issue with Governor Blaine on a statement made at Spring Green, Wis., that concern has held back income taxes to the amount of over $500,000. President Falk said that questions at variance will be decided by the state tax commission.

Mr. Falk issued the following statement: "Gov. Blaine's statement in reference to the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company withholding taxes is not based on facts. The Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing company believes it has paid the state all taxes justly due. There is a question before the tax commission at this time as to the percentage of the company's business transacted within or without the state and furthermore, the question of what percentage of its good will should be apportioned to Wisconsin. It has been and is now the company's contention that all of its good will belongs to the home of the corporation, namely, the state of Delaware. Both these questions, we are satisfied, will be justly and equitably decided by our tax commission."

"Boxing the Compass" is a term applied to the ability to repeat the names of all the points, half points, quarter points and eighth points of the compass, in their proper order. This is an accomplishment required of sailors, especially those called upon to steer vessels. The origin of the term is not known. However, the fact that the compass on board ship is contained in a brass box may account for it.

THE USE OF COKE

Bureau of Mines Prepares Bulletin Giving Results of Experiments With Coke

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Use of coke as a domestic fuel was urged Thursday by the bureau of mines which warned the householders that with the prospect of seeing the coal bin stocked with anthracite becoming a "doubtful possibility," the bulkiness of coke should not permit the winter to approach without an "adequate supply of fuel."

"Coke should be used for heating houses," the bureau said, "because it is the nearest approach to anthracite as a domestic fuel and because with the mining of bituminous coal rapidly reaching the normal stage of production it should be readily available for the coming fall and winter. It is a clean and convenient fuel, reduces the necessity of cleaning the furnace, requires less attention than coal and gives more uniform temperature in the house."

TO SING SING PRISON

NEW YORK.—James P. Larkin, Irish leader and former assemblyman, Benjamin G. Gitlow, who were convicted two years ago of criminal anarchy and who have been out on a certificate of reasonable doubt, were Thursday ordered returned to Sing Sing to finish the remainder of their sentences of from five to ten years. They were surrendered in the court of general sessions to Judge Koenig, who ordered them committed.

DRIVER OF A CAR IS HELD FOR DEATH OF MISS GUNDERSON

Martin Peterson of Whitehall is Arrested on a Charge of Manslaughter

Responsibility for the death of Miss Helen Gunderson, who died of injuries sustained when an automobile in which she was riding left the road and overturned, was held by a coroner's jury at Whitehall, Wis., on Monday. The jury, composed of J. J. Martin, Peterson, driver of the car. The jury in its verdict declared that Miss Gunderson's death was the result of negligent driving on the part of Peterson.

The inquest was conducted by Coroner E. A. McCormack and District Attorney Ole J. Eggum. Peterson was arrested after the girl's death on a charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree. He is alleged to have been drinking previous to the fatal accident. Preliminary hearing on the manslaughter charge has been set for Sept. 7.

Riding With Friends
Miss Gunderson, who is the only daughter of Mrs. Gustav Gunderson of Jackson valley in Trempealeau county, had gone to visit her friends, Helen and Palma Peterson, Martin Peterson uncle of Helen and Palma, had taken the girls for a ride. Albert Thompson was also in the party. Palma Peterson, 10 years old, sat in the front seat with her uncle, the driver, Helen Peterson, Miss Gunderson, and Thompson sat in the rear seat.

Miss Gunderson received fatal injuries and Palma Peterson was cut and bruised when the car left the road and overturned. The accident happened Sunday, Aug. 20. Miss Gunderson died the following morning. Peterson was arrested by Sheriff E. O. Erickson on a charge of manslaughter in the fourth degree. He is at liberty on $2,500 bail pending a preliminary hearing before Justice Larson at Whitehall next week.

Liquor is Blamed

Testimony offered at the inquest by Ole Olson and Mrs. Ener Johnson, both residents of Strum, was to the effect that Peterson was apparently under the influence of liquor when in the village of Strum several hours before the accident. Albert Thompson, a passenger in Peterson's car, testified that Peterson had turned around to talk with occupants of the rear seat, when he lost control and the machine left the road, overturning and causing fatal injuries to Miss Gunderson. Helen Peterson testified that she had no recollection of her uncle's turning around to talk, and disclaimed any knowledge that her uncle was under the influence of liquor.

Testimony which District Attorney Ole Eggum said lent support to the belief that Peterson had been drinking, was offered by Orville Wolf, a nine year old boy. Orville testified that shortly after the car overturned he noticed one of the men in the machine pick up an object from the road and toss it some distance aside. A glass jug of moonshine liquor was found under a plum tree at the side of the road a short distance from the accident. District Attorney Eggum said. The jug was discovered at about the spot where the boy said he observed one of the men throw an object, Mr. Eggum added.

MEASURING THE STARS' HEAT

The smallest and most sensitive instrument in the world has been constructed by Dr. W. W. Coblentz, an American scientist. Used for measuring the heat given off by the stars, it will respond to the heat of a candle fifty miles away.

The instrument is about the same size as a full-stop, and is formed by welding a dot of bismuth on to the end of a fine platinum wire. The joint is placed inside a vacuum tube containing a fluorite window, and connected by almost invisible wires to a galvanometer consisting of a fine coil of wire and a tiny swinging mirror.

The tube is then placed inside a large astronomical telescope, which is set so that the rays of the star will fall upon the joint. Because of the different properties of the two metals—bismuth and platinum—an electric current is generated. The current flows through to the galvanometer, and the mirror is moved, according to the amount of heat that has passed upon the joint.

To maintain as perfect a vacuum as possible, the tube is surrounded with calcium, which absorbs the air. Fluorite windows are used because fluorite is always transparent; some rays cannot penetrate glass.

BOTH FACTIONS OF G. O. P. IN WISCONSIN ACTIVE IN GETTING OUT FULL VOTE FOR PRIMARY

MADISON, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—The political control of Wisconsin will depend upon the size of the vote cast at the polls, next Tuesday, September 5.

This advice candidates and political leaders of all factions in the Wisconsin primary election contest are sending to their lieutenants throughout the state as the time for voting nears. Indifference of voters may mean defeat, or it may mean dissolution of recognized party organization, each faction is telling its followers.

For upon the result of the primary election depends in a large measure the political control of the state. If history of 27 years is repeated, it is a question of control by Senator La Follette and his faction, or control by his opponents this year headed by W. A. Gaillard.

Senator La Follette and Governor Blaine are appealing for a heavy vote to prevent disaster to their cause, while the same appeal is going out from the Committee of Forty-Four, representing their opponents, and by Attorney General Morgan and Mr. Canfield, the opposition candidates.

The Anti-Saloon league has set about organization of the prohibition forces so that they may be mustered in full strength on September 5. This vote the league is trying to throw to the support of Morgan and Canfield and against Blaine and La Follette on the state ticket.

The VALUE OF CHARCOAL

Many People Know How Useful It Is in

Preserving Good Health and Beauty. Nearly everybody knows that charcoal is the safest and most efficient disinfectant and purifier in nature, but few realize its value when taken into the human system for the same cleansing purpose.

Charcoal is a remedy that the more you take of it the better it is not a drug at all, but simply absorbs the poisons and impurities always present in the stomach and intestines and carries them out of the system.

Charcoal sweetens the breath after smoking and after eating onions and other odorous vegetables. Charcoal effectively clears and improves the complexion, it whitens the teeth and further acts as a natural and entirely safe cathartic.

It absorbs the injurious gases which collect in the stomach and bowels; it disinfects the mouth and throat from the poison of catarrh. All druggists sell charcoal in one form or another, but probably the best charcoal and the most for the money is in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges; they are composed of the finest powdered willow charcoal, in tablet form or rather in the form of large, pleasant tasting lozenges, the charcoal being sweetened to be smooth and palatable.

The daily use of these lozenges will soon tell in a much improved condition of the general health, better complexion, sweeter breath and purer blood, and the beauty of it is, that no possible harm can result from their continued use, but on the contrary, great benefit.

Many physicians advise Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges to patients suffering from gas, stomach and bowels, and to clear the complexion and purify the breath, mouth and throat. Charcoal has also been proved to create benefit to the liver. These lozenges cost but thirty cents a box at drug stores, and you get more and better charcoal in Stuart's Charcoal Lozenges than in any of the ordinary charcoal tablets.—Advertisement.

MANY PHYSICIANS ADVISE STUART'S CHARCOAL LOZENGES TO PATIENTS SUFFERING FROM GAS, STOMACH AND BOWELS, AND TO CLEAR THE COMPLEXION AND PURIFY THE BREATH, MOUTH AND THROAT. cent of the full strength. The will of the majority is not expressed when only half of the voters exercise their right to express their political beliefs, politicians are telling the people.

Democrats and socialists face another problem, explained by themselves in circulars to their supporters over the state.

They must register a vote equal to ten per cent of the total number of ballots cast for their candidates in the last presidential election or lose their legal existence. Because of the switch of their members to the republican party, the democratic and socialist leaders are appealing to members of their party to stay within the fold.

While the Wisconsin political fight is largely decided in the primary election there is evidence of a continued contest that may result in later overturns.

ANCIENT GAME OF LAWN TENNIS

Lawn tennis has made such enormous strides in popularity in recent years that it has dropped the prefix and become "tennis," but the royal and ancient game to which that title originally belonged was a very different affair from the lawn game of today. It was played in France as long ago as the 14th century, but without nets or rackets, the hardy folk of those times striking the ball—not a soft rubber one, either—with their bare palms. During the 16th century, after a form of racket was introduced. French and English kings made a specialty of the game. It is on record that the game was played in 1591, when Queen Elizabeth was entertained at Elveham, in Hampshire, by the Earl of Hertford. Strutt, quoting from Nichols' "Progress of Queen Elizabeth," tells us that "after dinner, about three o'clock ten of his lordship's servants, all Somersetshire men, in a square green court, before her majesty's window, did hang up lines, squaring out the form of a tennis court, and making a cross-line in the middle. In this square they being stript of their doubles, played five to five, with hand-ball to the great liking of her Highness."

New Form of X-Ray

A doctor claims to have discovered a new form of X-rays, of greater penetrative power and far more easily produced. With no more electrical energy than can be drawn from the house-lighting current, he is said to have produced rays which affected photographic plates through 11 inches of lead or four inches of steel.

They call them quack doctors because they are all bill.

PALMOLIVE Shaving Cream results from 18 months of study. Our experts made up 130 formulas before they attained this perfection. It is based on the blend of palm and olive oils which makes Palmolive the leading toilet soap of the world. Over 1,000 men were consulted to learn the qualities which shavers most desired.

In These Five Ways Supreme

It multiplies itself in lather 250 times. Thus a tiny bit—just one-half gram—suffices for a shave.

It acts quickly. Within one minute the beard absorbs 15% of water. Without hot towels or finger rubbing it makes a tough beard wax-like.

The lather maintains its creamy fullness for ten minutes on the face. So it does not need replacing.

The soap bubbles are substantial. They support the hairs for cutting—a most important factor.

The after-effects are delightful. The palm and olive oil blend soothes all irritation. The face is left soft and tender. No lotion is required.

RETURN GIVES BIG LEAD TO JOHNSON IN SENATE RACE

California Solon Renominated by Margin of More than 65,000

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif. — With complete but unofficial returns in from 5,680 of California's 6,605 precincts all candidates in Tuesday's primary knew definitely early Wednesday whether they had won.

In the case of Hiram Johnson on whose candidacy 5,751 precincts have reported, he knows he will again be the republican candidate for United States senator to succeed himself by a margin of more than 65,000. On the face of the latest returns the republican vote for United States senator stood: Johnson, 273,762; C. C. Moore, 205,098.

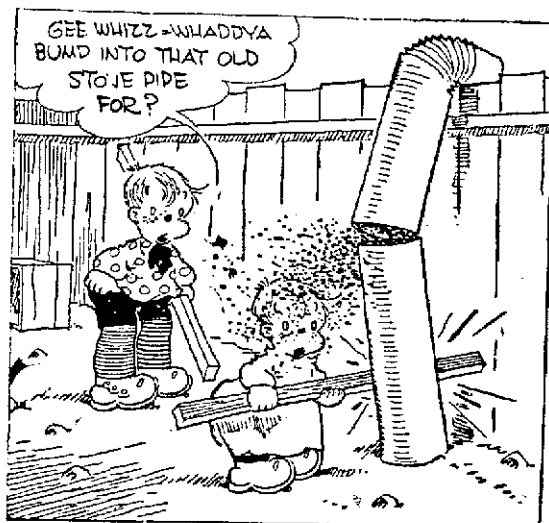

F. W. Richardson, state treasurer, had a lead of 14,738 over Governor W. D. Stephens for the republican gubernatorial nomination. The vote was: Richardson 241,962; Stephens, 227,224.

Thomas L. Woolwine was leading his opponent, Mattison B. Jones of Glendale by more than 20,000 for the democratic nomination for governor.

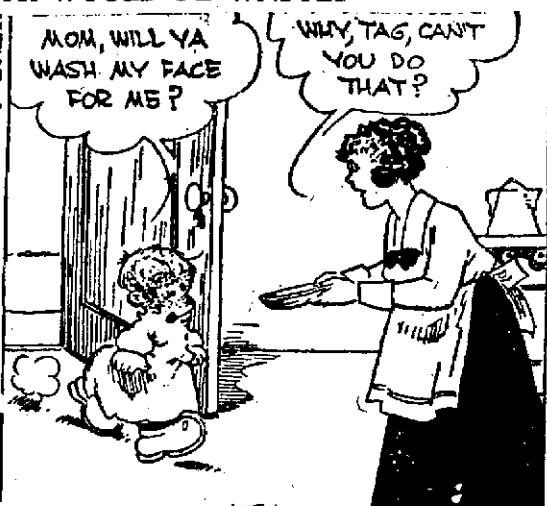

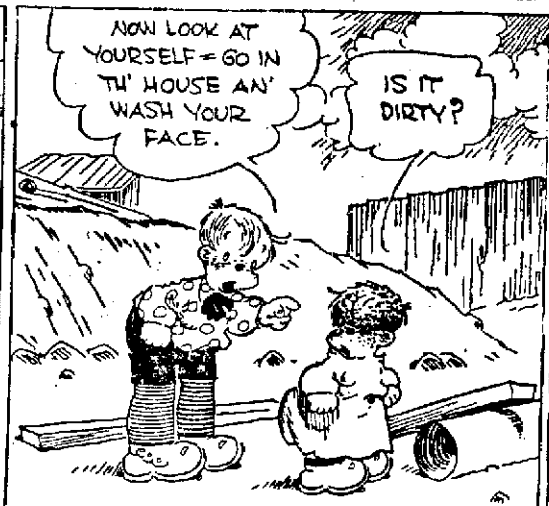

On the prohibition ticket Governor Stephens, who sought the gubernatorial nomination, received, 1,209 votes and Jones, his opponent, 750. Both men ran on the prohibition tickets in addition to their own.

SAYS OWN LAW KEPT BOB FROM PRESIDENCY

MADISON, Wis.—The Wisconsin primary law, vigorously defended by the La Follette progressive forces, has kept Senator La Follette from being president of the United States, Karl Mathie, candidate for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, asserted in a statement Thursday. Through operation of the primary the senior senator has made this state so hopelessly republican, that national parties skip over its field of candidates when selecting presidential timber, Mr. Mathie said.

"Beautifully woven to keep himself in office, the primary has balked him in his greatest ambition," the statement declared. "Wisconsin has been so hopelessly republican that political leaders never cruise our state for presidential timber. They look rather to the doubtful states like Ohio which has furnished nearly all the republican presidents since the civil war."

"Had La Follette been far seeing rather than shrewd he would have encouraged fair minded democrats to stay at home and build up the democratic party in Wisconsin so that its electoral vote would always be in doubt as it is in Ohio. As it is now Wisconsin is reliable and need not be seriously considered even in the distribution of the big plums of federal patronage."

"Every boy and girl of ability in Ohio can look forward to being president of the United States, but Wisconsin has shut the door of opportunity to ambitious youth by its silly adherence to a boss and his antiquated primary system. This policy has been most unfair by their children and by their state, yielding to seductive flattery and racial appeals utterly foreign to the spirit of our institutions."

"This year the democrats offer Mrs. Henry Hooper, one of the five great women of America whose masterful work made woman suffrage a success, as candidate for United States senator. Her whole life breathes democracy; her political ideals are as democratic as those of Jefferson, Cleveland and Wilson."

"The senate needs just such a woman to bring action up to ideals, to fight for world peace that white civilization may not perish from the earth. Mrs. Hooper is going to Washington as a new force for international good will and through her unselfish devotion to the cause of peace win over a senate that has no reason to question her loyalty or resent her methods of attaining useful legislation."

PHILIP LA FOLLETTE SPEAKS FOR FATHER

WESTBY, Wis.—Carrying on his father's campaign for re-nomination as republican candidate for the United States senate, Philip La Follette, in a speech here Thursday, attacked the Esch-Cummins railroad law. As a result of operation of that law, he said, the American public was required to pay for or eleven per cent guarantee because "nearly one-half of the railroad valuation is hot air or water."

The son of Senator La Follette said that the freight rate increase of July, 1920, placed a burden on the backs of the people in the higher cost of living, amounting to $7,000,000,000 and declared that this burden will continue until the Esch-Cummins law is repealed.

OPEN TAX RETURNS ASKS SOL LEVITAN

CEDAR GROVE, Wis.—There is no more reason for secrecy in income tax returns than there is for secrecy in banks which he said are open to public inspection at any time, Solomon Levitan, candidate for state treasurer declared in a speech here Thursday night.

"There is nothing more in an income tax that should not be disclosed than there is in a personal property tax," the candidate said. "Banks are subject to state banking supervision and their records are open to public inspection in every possible way. It is all humbug to talk about secrecy of income tax returns."

WILL COLLECT MILLIONS IN TAXES—BLAINE

SPRING GREEN, Wis.—Before the close of his two years as governor over $2,500,000 in back income taxes will have been collected from corporations due to his activities, Governor J. J. Blaine said in a talk here Thursday.

The tax commission will soon be digging up delinquent income taxes at the rate of $200,000 a month, the governor said, adding that "from an incomplete audit I find that the Alis-Chalmers company of Milwaukee has held back taxes to the amount of over $500,000. The sums that we are now digging up in additional taxes run for each corporation in the majority of cases from $1,000 to over $500,000."

HOME OWNERS OPPOSED TO SOCIALISM—MORGAN

RACINE, Wis.—Attorney General William J. Morgan, candidate for governor, speaking here Wednesday night, said that he wanted to see the day come when the workmen of Wisconsin will live in their own homes and when they do, the attorney general said that he would defy Victor Berger to convert them to socialism.

"I defy any radical to make converts in communities where the folks are home-owners," Mr. Morgan said. "I favor a reasonable tax exemption upon homes occupied by the owner. I believe that a home owning people are a happy people and in no other way can home ownership and some building be encouraged as well as by allowing a reasonable tax exemption on homes occupied by the owner."

I want to see the day come when the workmen will live in their homes just as farmers do. When all own a bit of the very soil as most of the farmers now own their homes, I am sure we will all want to be sure that there is a stable government."

Preserves Eggs But Ruins Clothes

Don't blame the materials or the laundress for gray-looking clothes, frayed edges, thin spots and tiny holes in fabrics. If these things happen the chances are that your laundry soap is nearly 3/4 water glass or some other paste. Most ordinary white and yellow laundry soaps contain much of it.

With a microscope you could probably see the fine, glistening particles of water glass that crystallize in the strands of the fabric when your clothes dry out. These cut the threads, usually the holes show up in the worn spots first. Other "fillers" simply rot the fabric.

Careful women are avoiding this now, by getting The Palmolive Co.'s large, greenish laundry bar that has soap no "filler"—called GREEN ARROW. To see the results best, try it at least a month or two. You'll notice the very first trial that it does not rot, rust, roughen or burn your hands. But to note the big difference in the whiteness, softness and freshness of your clothes and in the quantity of soap you save, several trials are best. You can also avoid the olive oil and naphtha take the dirt right out with a little soaking and restore the virgin whiteness of the fibers.

Fabric experts wash with olive oil soap because it imparts that olive oil softness and sweetness to the fibers. GREEN ARROW is the most economical soap as well as the most delightful, for being all soap it is all cleaning power and goes nearly twice as far as the ordinary.

Pay a cent or two more for GREEN ARROW and save many dollars in clothes and many bars of soap.

TO STANDARDIZE TRAFFIC SIGNAL IS AIM SOUGHT

CHICAGO. — Standardization of colors for traffic signals in the interest of greater public safety has been recommended by the signal section of the American Railway association. The Pennsylvania News, publication of the Pennsylvania railroad, announced in a recent issue.

The recommendations are: 1. The principle of red for stop everywhere, unless qualified by a more favorable indication; that is, at highway crossings with railroad if train is approaching; in fixed signals and in the hands of traffic officers at street intersections and at the ends of streets and possibly to indicate excavations in streets.

2. Yellow for tail lights of automobiles, possibly excavations in streets and for calling policemen, or for any other purpose where caution is required; possibly at busy street intersections to indicate that the traffic lights will be changed from red to green or from green to red.

3. Green lights for fire escapes; for proceeding at street intersections and other purposes to indicate the way is clear.

"It is obvious that the public cannot be expected to interpret signals correctly if their significance differs in various localities," said A. H. Rudd, Chief Signal Engineer of the Pennsylvania lines, who presented the recommendations in behalf of the signal section.

"Uniformity is, therefore, not only desirable but absolutely essential," he said.

"The great underlying cause of accidents is carelessness of the automobile driver and his disregard for his own safety and that of others. If uniform colors are established, drivers should be required to pass a test for acuity of vision and color preception."

Sixty Elephants Bagged at Once

An English hunter named Mayor succeeded in gaining the confidence of the Sultan of Trengganu, one of the Malay States, whose territory was a veritable preserve of wild beasts, and there he trapped no fewer than 60 wild elephants in one single undertaking. The work, however, was not done without grave risk; three natives being killed and 12 injured in the process. Several of the captured elephants were babies. They soon became playful, and the author made pets of them.

Wish Ford was more numerous.

Don't Be Fooled Next Tuesday!

THE reactionaries in this campaign have not dared to go before the people of Wisconsin under their true colors. No greater tribute can be paid to Senator La Follette and the Progressive movement than the fact that the old time stalwarts, thorough discredited under their old name, have now found it necessary to try to fool the people by calling themselves "Progressives." The same old crowd, the same old beneficiaries of privilege, the interests that prey on the people and the profiteers are now enlisted under the banner of the Committee of 44 and The American Constitutional League to defeat Senator La Follette and Gov. Blaine.

Gov. Blaine has already given the people of Wisconsin information showing how big business concerns that evaded their income taxes were big contributors to the $230,000 barrel of The American Constitutional League. These interests are now using new disguises and their candidates are claiming to be "Progressive."

The people of Wisconsin should not be fooled. Here is the LA FOLLETTE PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN ticket. Cut this out and take it to the polls with you next Tuesday. Put an X after the following names:

FOR GOVERNOR	John J. Blaine	X
FOR LIEUT. GOVERNOR	George F. Comings	X
FOR SECRETARY OF STATE	Fred R. Zimmerman	X
FOR STATE TREASURER	Solomon Levitan	X
FOR ATTORNEY GENERAL	Herman L. Ekern	X
FOR UNITED STATES SENATOR	Robert M. La Follette	X

Overconfidence has lost many important political contests. Every voter in your family should go to the polls next Tuesday.

GET OUT THE VOTE. USE THE TELEPHONE. THAT IS THE BIG DUTY OF PROGRESSIVES NEXT TUESDAY. BEWARE OF 11TH HOUR ROORBACKS!

Senator Robert M. La Follette

THE LA FOLLETTE PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES FAVOR:

- 1—Ousting Newberry.

GRAND JURY RETURNS FIRST INDICTMENT IN HERRIN MINE PROBE

Murder in First Degree Charged Against Man Who Shot Mine Superintendent

MAISON, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—The fourth day of the grand jury investigation of the Herrin mine war was expected Thursday to yield more evidence on the strength of which it is now certain many more indictments will be issued, in addition to the first already made known yesterday. The name of the defendant was withheld.

The unexpected issuance of the indictment, charging murder in the first degree in connection with the death of C. K. McDowell, crippled superintendent of the Foster steam mine, around which the massacre took place, the presence of Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois mine workers, and other state union officials, and the efforts to ascertain whether Mexicans were among the slain employees of the Southern Illinois Coal company, were the chief developments yesterday.

A statement by Mr. Farrington charging that "forces had combined to convict our members," and adding that no expense would be spared in defense of any union miner that might be indicted, brought from Attorney General Brandage, who has personal charge of the investigation, a reply in which Mr. Brandage insisted the investigation would be fair and would not be directed against any person in particular.

The reference of some witnesses, who are said to have declined to answer questions before the grand jury apparently has thrown no obstacle in the way of progress, according to Attorney General Brandage, who is confident that the testimony furnished by non-residents of Williamson county is more than sufficient to bring about numerous indictments.

PREACHER-SHERIFF OUT FOR CONGRESS HAS MANY IDEAS

DES MOINES, Iowa.—Bonus tariff and the farm bill will not absorb all of Sheriff Winfield E. Robb's time if he is elected to Congress from Iowa.

Des Moines' preacher-sheriff, and former fighting champion of the 168th Infantry, Rainbow Division, declares he will work to have the laws which support the "double standard" of morality amended so that the man as well as the woman will be held equally responsible.

Some of Sheriff Robb's statements on the question follow:

A loved man is worse than a loved woman.

Why are women sent to prison and men fined for the same crime?

There should be no double standard; laws should be made to prevent it.

Recognition of the guilt of both the man and the woman should be made a national law.

One incident showing the present method in dealing with the situation, related by Robb was that of a taxi-driver responsible for the downfall of a girl who received a fine while the girl was sent to prison.

Sheriff Robb sprang into national prominence last winter when he resigned the pastorate of his church here because he was expected to spring the trap of two condemned murderers. He declared that a man could not take the life of another and remain in the ministry. A stay of execution since has prevented him from acting as executioner.

He was nominated to the lower house of Congress from the 7th Iowa district on the Democratic ticket.

In The MOVIES

AT THE MAJESTIC

Arrow Film Corporation presents the photoplay, "Ten Nights in a Barroom," at the Majestic theatre this week. Old-timers who knew the opportunity of seeing their favorite play the roles that have brought laughter and tears to the eyes of millions of theatregoers throughout the world. And those youngsters who have never seen their play will be swayed, as were their parents, by the story that can never grow old. Love, hate, joy and sorrow are all there, as well as thrilling action that will satisfy the most rabid movie fan.

It is the story that is particularly well suited to the screen and the producers have not overlooked any point that would add to the interest in this production. "Ten Nights in a Barroom" took almost a year to make and cost an enormous amount of money. Buildings were built only to be burned to the ground. Vast numbers of people were employed in the making and the "big" scene, that of the log drive on the river, alone took several weeks to film and cost a young fortune.

AT THE RIVOLI

Richard Wayne, a capable actor who for some years has been playing minor roles in Paramount Pictures, has reached the goal of leading man, opposite Gloria Swanson in her third Paramount starring vehicle, "Her Husband's Trademark," showing today, Friday and Saturday at the Rivoli Theatre.

Born in Beatrice, Neb., Mr. Wayne studied to be a musician at the University at Lincoln, and after completing there, went to Europe for a two years' finishing course. Then he returned to America and for eight years was noted for his work as a concert pianist in eastern musical circles. He also achieved quite a reputation as an orchestra conductor.

Mr. Wayne came west and interested himself in motion picture work. His ability and popularity have consistently improved and he will be recalled as the second male lead in a recent Ethel Clayton vehicle, "Wealth."

His role of Allan Franklin in this new story by Clara Beranger, directed by Sam Wood, is his first role as a full-fledged leading man. Others in the cast are Stuart Holmes, Lucien Littlefield, Charles Ogle, Edythe Chapman, and Clarence Burton.

AT THE RIVIERA

Presenting one of the most magnificent picture subjects seen here in many months, "The Loves of Pharaoh," an Ernest Lubitsch production for Paramount, was shown with unqualified success at the Riviera theatre last night. Mr. Lubitsch, the creator of "Passion" and "Deception," has outdone himself in this remarkable production.

The scenes are laid in Egypt in the days of the Pharaohs and to say that they are massive and that as a spectacle, this picture is unrivalled, is expressing it mildly.

Nor is the story lost in the spectacle. The people of the play, Pharaoh Amenes, the all-powerful King of Egypt, cold and cruel as the ruler of his people, but tender and a vain supplicant for love at the feet of a free-spirited slave girl, is made a true character by Emil Jennings. Paul Wegener as the King of the Ethiopians is clear and definite and contrasting.

GO TO MOVIE WEEK

Ever since the advent of Will H. Hays into the motion picture industry there has been evident a changed atmosphere in the industry. Standards of production have been raised; producers have been impressed with the necessity for securing worthwhile stories for their productions; and have been brought to the realization of the part that the casts and directors play in the successful transfer of the story to the screen. Bigger and better pictures has been the slogan with producers intent on making clean and wholesome offerings which will guarantee to the public the maximum of entertainment value.

The result of this changed condition in the motion picture industry will be demonstrated in pictures released during the new year of which the productions presented during the week of August 26 at the Rivoli and Majestic theatres will be but a sample, according to Manager Koppelberger. Pictures this year will be of a higher type from every standpoint, with the industry providing the answer to the public's demand for better screen offerings, he said.

Northwest Go to Movie Week which will officially usher in the motion picture industry's new year, is being observed by 2,000 theatres of the northwest. In addition similar movements are to be conducted in every section of the United States, with the entire industry united in this demonstration in behalf of better motion pictures.

AT THE STRAND

"In the Name of the Law," a police drama that crackles with exciting incidents and glows with heart interest in the current attraction at the Strand Theatre today. It's an Emory Johnson production released by F. B. O. in which Mr. Johnson portrays one of the leading roles together with a splendid cast embracing such well known players as Ralph Lewis, Claire McDowell, Ella Hall, Dick Morris and Johnnie Walker. Ralph Lewis best remembered as the impressive Senator Stoneham in D. W. Griffith's "The Birth of a Nation" is Policeman O'Hara in "In the Name of the Law."

What He Gets

The fellow who, while working keeps his mind on his task gets results, the idler and clock watcher gets his "desserts" and those usually constitute a "your services are no longer required" notice.—Fond du Lac Reporter.

The Living Wage

There is seldom a question of a living wage for the faithful and capable worker for he quickly works toward a higher wage. That is always his opportunity and his reward. High wages are cheerfully paid for good work, and it often happens that the best paid is the most economical. The man who can command only a living wage assuming that to be a minimum below which wages should not fall, is seldom profitable.—Springfield, Union.

In The Blood

The lord of the manor in a village near Canterbury is well known for keen hunting and good shooting. Recently, his little son, Peter, stood on the steps of the house watching the vicar depart. At the sight of the big, black but his eyes gleamed, he raised the pea shooter and aimed. His mother made him apologize. "Well," she said afterward, "are you really sorry?" "Yes, Mummy, but I'm really glad I didn't miss, 'cos it was my last pea!"—London Post.

Good times or bad times, there's one old thing we always hang on to and that's street car straps.

NEW RESERVOIR AT VIROQUA SUPPLIES TOWN WITH WATER

Fire Rate Classification of the City Raised to an Even Four VIROQUA, Wis.—After an inspection of Viroqua's new well and reservoir, Chief Engineer of the Wisconsin Inspection Bureau, raised the fire rate classification of the city from 4-1-2 to an even four, due to the presence of the reservoir. For over a year, the council, and Mayor Smith have been working hard to complete the well, mains, and reservoir, according to state specifications.

The well has an airlift that delivers five hundred gallons of water a minute. At the first try out the air lift ran without lowering the head of water a particle and every minute delivering more than its rated maximum capacity of five hundred gallons per minute. The well was completed under very trying conditions where stratum of rock was encountered, with much breakage, loss of tools, and long delay.

Its completion, causes much satisfaction, as the water in the old wells had often been condemned as impure.

CONSERVATIONISTS OF STATE TO MEET AT MADISON SOON

MADISON, Wis.—Leaders of the conservation movement from over the country meet in Madison this coming week to discuss their problems and hear papers on subjects affecting their work.

On Monday and Tuesday, the International Association of Fish and Game commissioners gather for their annual convention, while Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, the American Fisheries society, of which W. E. Barbor, chairman of the Wisconsin conservation commission, is president, meets for its fifty-second convention.

At the latter meeting fisheries experts from the various states will meet to hear a discussion of the particular problems affecting their work. The three day program includes talks by prominent federal and state fish commissioners and experts.

Preservation of wild life is given particular consideration by the meeting of the International association of Fish and Game commissioners.

CHEYENNE, Wyo.—Governor Carey conceded the republican gubernatorial primary to John W. Hay.

Cheer up! Only 300 more years until 2222.
